For more than 200 years, the Erie Canalway’s story has been about digging in when the going gets tough and pulling together to achieve big goals. If ever there was a year to tap that strength, it was 2020.

For the Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor, our clear mission, sound management, and a robust annual work plan provided strong footing that enabled us to dig in. At the same time, we collaborated with our partners and adjusted many of our programs to meet unexpected challenges and serve people, organizations, and communities facing a difficult year.

This annual report offers a snapshot of our accomplishments. Together with our Canalway partners, we are tapping 200 years of canal heritage to foster a vibrant waterway that thrives long into the future.

Established by an Act of Congress in 2000, the Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor spans 524 miles across the full expanse of upstate New York. It includes the Erie, Cayuga-Seneca, Oswego, and Champlain canals and their historic alignments. The Corridor encompasses 4,834 square miles in 23 counties and is home to 3.2 million people.
The NYS Canal System is public infrastructure that provides public benefit—just as state parks and roadways do. The benefit of the waterway is not merely to boaters. Positive economic benefits flow to canal communities, businesses, industries, and agriculture.

New York’s canals mean business to hundreds of communities. They mean vital water supplies, recreation, and transportation to hundreds of thousands of people. This year’s delayed opening brought the multidimensional value of the canals into sharp focus. We advocated for a full opening of the NYS Canal System and provided information to communities, residents and boaters impacted by closures and low water levels. We also invested in eight exciting projects to enhance canal access and visitation and celebrated three sites where canal heritage is taking center stage in community revitalization.
The Erie Canalway Heritage Award of Excellence celebrates significant places in the Erie Canalway where people have come together to preserve and share our canal heritage or to make part of the Corridor a vibrant place to live, work, or visit. We recognized three extraordinary places this year for their success.

- Gateway Harbor of the Tonawandas (winner) and the Port of Newark (honorable mention) developed welcoming and vital public spaces along the Erie Canal that are centerpieces of waterfront and community revitalization.
- The Erie Canal Heritage Park at Port Byron (winner) showcases the transformation of an abandoned 19th century canal lock along the NYS Thruway into a destination that shares New York’s canal heritage with thousands of travelers from around the world each year.

By building upon historic assets, making strategic investments, and collaborating with diverse stakeholders, these sites prove the multifaceted rewards of creating strong, vibrant, and resilient places.

Heritage Award recipients remind us that our past can serve as the bedrock of our future.
Over the past 12 years, Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor has made 83 grants to communities and non-profit organizations that have spurred $2.35 million in additional investments in heritage preservation, recreation, and education.

"We care about ensuring people have fair access to discover and explore the numerous treasures right in our backyard. We will continue to do our part to support and advocate for the Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor in the halls of Congress, and we are pleased to see these grants delivered to our local communities."
— Congressman Tom Reed (NY-23)

Eight organizations received Erie Canalway IMPACT! Grants in 2020 totaling $60,000 and leveraging an additional $515,291 in private and public project support. Funded projects include vital work to preserve and showcase canal heritage and welcome people to explore the canal in their local communities. A partnership with NYS Canal Corporation led to an increase in the award threshold and the funding of additional projects.

2020 Grant Recipients

1st Amendment—1st Vote, Inc. in Seneca Falls ($2,000) will explore civic engagement with high school girls from 19 school districts. A series of virtual tours will recognize the important contribution of the Erie Canal as a transportation and information highway in advancing equal rights.

Buffalo Maritime Center in Buffalo ($5,000) designed exhibits for the Longshed at Canalside in Buffalo’s Inner Harbor, where volunteers are constructing a replica packet boat to celebrate the “Wedding of the Waters” bicentennial. Canalboat Commencement Weekend in October provided an exciting look at the Center’s progress.

City of Oneida ($12,000) is developing four interpretive signs highlighting the city’s canal resources to be placed on walking trails in the city.

County of Oswego ($12,000) designed an ADA accessible paddling access area that will provide access to a scenic four-mile section of the Oswego River between Locks O5 and O6.

Feeder Canal Alliance in Glens Falls ($5,000) is developing a hands-on field school environmental lab on the Glens Falls Feeder Canal. Students will use an inquiry-based approach to focus on environmental themes, including water quality and invasive species.

National Women’s Hall of Fame in Seneca Falls ($10,000) created a movable exhibit that honors women and their contributions in history. The exhibit is in the Hall of Fame’s new home in the historic Seneca Knitting Mill, which opened in August.

Town of Lyons ($7,000) is landscaping a sustainable garden space alongside Lock 27 in Lyons to beautify the waterfront and welcome travelers.

Village of Brockport ($7,000) is restoring a prominent mural on Main Street that depicts a scene from Peter Spier’s Erie Canal children’s book. Restoring the mural will ensure that the charm and grace of this canal community will continue to be appreciated by visitors and residents for generations to come.

IMPACT! Grants

$515,291 of additional private and public project support was leveraged.
Field trips to the canal? Not in 2020. The abrupt shift to virtual learning this year left more than 8,000 students who typically take advantage of our Ticket to Ride and Every Kid in a Park Programs high and dry. It was also a loss for the historic sites, museums and national parks that provide educational programs. We quickly shifted gears to provide online learning resources for schools and funding to help several of our educational partners find new ways to engage with students.

The result is a creative mix of new virtual lessons that provide additional options for canal-related education and the potential to reach wider audiences. Here’s a snapshot of a few programs:

• The Erie Canal Discovery Center in Lockport developed five virtual lessons on the history, geography, engineering and national impact of the Erie Canal.

• Corn Hill Navigation in Pittsford is developing curriculum materials that support its Environmental Education on the Erie Canal program.

• Chittenango Landing Canal Boat Museum in Chittenango will use a virtual Lego Robotics program to interact directly with youth in their classrooms via video feed.

• Working in partnership with the NYS Canal Corporation, Erie Canalway will develop a series of 360-degree virtual tours of canal sites and features to share with students and the public.

• Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor is collaborating with the Erie Canal Museum, MOST, The R/E/D Group (affiliated with Syracuse University School of Education), and Syracuse City School District to develop a program for seventh graders that offers a blend of Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) and History. Students from Syracuse City School District will learn about the many challenges encountered while building the Erie Canal and engage in hands-on engineering-based projects. This program is made possible thanks to a grant from Central NY Community Foundation.

“We are so grateful for the opportunity to be able to share our Erie Canal heritage with students not just in Western New York but all over the country. This grant has provided us the ability to create virtual educational encounters far beyond the scope we ever imagined."

— Ann Marie Linnabery, Assistant Director/Education Coordinator, History Center of Niagara, Lockport

Each year, the Canalway Corridor attracts residents and visitors to upstate New York for special events, tours, cycling trips, and to navigate one of the world’s longest canals. This year’s travel restrictions, delays in canal opening, and event cancellations took a significant toll on tourism. At the same time, the pandemic presented new opportunities to invite New Yorkers to rediscover the treasures in their own backyard and to enjoy beauty, history, nature, and outstanding recreation along the canals.

The NYS Canal System is central to an emerging world-class recreation corridor that also includes the Empire State Trail and the NYS Canalway Water Trail.
A recurring theme among participants in 2020 was how the Canalway Challenge led to the discovery of places and communities close to home that they had not visited previously.

While many participants stayed close to home, the outdoor nature of the Challenge also provided a safe way for people to explore farther afield. Participants came from 11 states (27% came from outside the Canalway Corridor) and 42% visited multiple regions.

Inspiring stories from participants confirm the can-do spirit of New Yorkers and provide assurance that we are up for the challenge of triumphing through difficult times.

The Canalway Challenge reaches a wide audience thanks to more than 70 promotional partners across the Corridor. It is funded in part by a grant from Market NY through I LOVE NY, New York State’s Division of Tourism, as part of the State’s Regional Economic Development Council Initiative. Additional funding support is provided by the National Park Service and the NYS Canal Corporation.

We began to build partnerships with disability advocates to offer a 1st Mile Challenge for people with accessibility needs. While the pandemic dampened many of our plans, we sponsored The Arc Wayne's Color Wayne Virtual Walk/Run/Bike and supported Rochester Accessible Adventures Pass to Play program, which offered discounts on adaptive cycling and paddling rentals at the Erie Canal Boat Company in Fairport.

“Though I’ve lived in New York most of my life, the trail took me to places I’d never visited before and gave me a new perspective on those I’m quite familiar with. It also reassured me that I’m NY Strong in spite of the pandemic and its fallout.”

– Glenn Ceresaletti, 360 Miles
Paddling proved to be a great socially distant activity in 2020. Resources developed by Erie Canalway helped many enjoy the waterway safely.

Erie Canalway’s leadership in developing the NYS Canalway Water Trail delivered big dividends in 2020. We installed 340 signs to mark the trail at more than 140 locations. The signs are already assisting paddlers with clear identification of put-in and take-out sites. The NYS Canal Corporation provided critical financial support through the Governor’s Capital Region Economic Development Council.

We continued to distribute the NYS Canalway Water Trail Guidebook and Map Set, having now reached the eager hands of more than 2,000 paddlers. In addition, updates to Erie Canalway’s nycanalmap.com continued to provide information on boater-friendly facilities and amenities to paddlers and other Canalway Corridor visitors.

We used our monthly Water Trail newsletter, Facebook group, and website to share important information and build a growing network of canal paddlers. Visitors viewed the NYS Canalway Water Trail and best bet paddling trips web pages more than 13,000 times. The NYS Canalway Water Trail Facebook group grew to 1,600 members.

Pandemic-related delays in opening portions of the NYS Canal System produced uniquely low water levels in the Mohawk River and safety concerns, particularly regarding movable dams from Herkimer to Schenectady. Erie Canalway worked closely with our partners at the NYS Canal Corporation to share timely safety information with paddlers throughout the year.

Erie Canalway made good progress in 2020 on developing a long-term trail Stewardship Program. We also selected a contractor to develop Hand Launch Guidelines that will highlight and illustrate best practices for the variety of conditions existing on our distinctive upstate waterways.

“We were left feeling deeply invested in the canal with a desire for others to experience this amazing and historic waterway.”

— Beth Walker and Sara Catalano

2020 Map and Guide

Though events and conferences were cancelled and many of our distribution sites closed, we still managed to distribute 40,000 Erie Canalway Map & Guides. We were grateful to partner with Stewart’s Shops to distribute copies at 10 stores in Eastern New York.
The Canalway Corridor serves both New York State residents and people from around the world who are attracted to its multi-day and multi-recreational opportunities. The impacts of boaters, cyclists, paddlers, hikers, car travelers and event goers are additive. Each contributes to the vibrancy and economic sustainability of the entire Corridor.

To best serve visitors and maximize impact, we advanced initiatives to create model Canalway Recreational Hubs in both the eastern and western gateways of the Corridor. These Hubs will be distinctive, environmentally and visitor-friendly immersion points with numerous amenities to meet the needs of varied recreational enthusiasts. The Hubs will complement existing community facilities and strengthen a network of amenities for users of the Erie Canal, Empire State Trail and the NYS Canalway Water Trail.

The twin cities of Tonawanda and North Tonawanda are working with us to further enhance their shared Gateway Harbor. Work has begun on a variety of fronts, including trail access and amenities, wayfinding and interpretive signs, wi-fi coverage, public art, small business development, and events. In addition, the Reimagine the Canals initiative is supporting the lighting of a unique bascule bridge that will visually unify the two cities.

In the east, we continued to work with the NYS Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation and the City of Cohoes to transform the former Matton Shipyard into a vibrant hub site. In 2020, we removed more than 50,000 pounds of contaminated materials and debris from the site. We also worked with engineers and architects on Hudson River waterfront and building stabilization and restoration, while archaeologists completed cultural resource studies. In addition, we developed content for three new interpretive signs.

We worked with the Preservation League of NYS, with support from the 1772 Foundation, to complete a study of lodging in close proximity to the Corridor’s land and water trails and evaluate the potential for abandoned or under-used historic buildings to be revitalized to provide recreational user facilities and amenities. Mapping the results enabled us to identify gaps in services so that we can focus on areas of greatest need going forward.
In partnership with New York State Canal Corporation, we awarded 28 sponsorships for a total of $15,000. Being flexible with funding enabled us to work with many event hosts to ensure safe events or to repurpose the sponsorships for other tourism-related projects.

In a year when the global pandemic necessitated restrictions on large gatherings, we quickly modified our event sponsorship program. Working with the hosts of events sponsored before the pandemic, we provided options that enabled them to repurpose funding to complete alternative tourism-related projects that encouraged visitation and enhanced the canal experience.

TRANSITIONS
We gratefully acknowledge the contributions of departing Commissioners Carol Greenough and Paul Webster. Greenough was a founding commissioner who represented the Champlain Canal and brought her wisdom, good humor, and expertise to the variety of initiatives she touched. Webster supported the development and success of the Ticket to Ride program through his extensive networks of education professionals throughout the state. We said farewell to Program Manager Miyoko Fulleringer, who returned to her native Canada, and welcomed Ashley Quimby-Simoni as the newest member of our staff.
