Launch Your Canal Experience

Come by boat, bike, car, or on foot—you’ll discover a winning combination of recreational opportunities, unique regional food and beverages, small town charm, big city culture, and lots to see and do along the canals that built New York State and opened the Nation.

When you explore the Erie, Champlain, Cayuga-Seneca, or Oswego Canals, you’re following in the footsteps of generations of families, canal boat workers, and world travelers who have plied these waters and walked its towpath since the Erie Canal opened in 1825. Some of our more famed visitors include Charles Dickens, Harriet Beecher Stowe, and Mark Twain.

If you travel the entire length of the Erie Canal, you’ll join a growing number of today’s “End-to-Enders” who are enjoying a big adventure and sense of accomplishment as they walk, cycle, row, kayak, or cruise nearly 400 miles from Buffalo to Albany.

But you don’t have to travel the entire distance to have something to write home about. You can ride the Canalway Trail for an hour or two, visit one of the Canalway Corridor’s premier canal museums and historic sites, discover the charm of canal villages, or step onboard a tour boat to get a sense of how much the Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor has to offer.

Wish You Were Here…

Before Twitter, Instagram, or Facebook, people sent short messages to friends and relatives using postcards. As the social media of its day, postcards were cheap, fast, and fun to receive. Share your visit with friends and relatives and tag us at @ErieCanalway.
Get on the Water

The New York State Canal System—which includes the Erie, Champlain, Cayuga-Seneca, and Oswego canals—is the centerpiece of the Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor. Often billed as the fastest way to slow down, boating here is like nowhere else. You’ll navigate century-old locks, pass stunning stone aqueducts used to carry boats over rivers and streams in the 1800s, traverse the waterway with tugboats and cruisers; and experience narrow canal channels and wider rivers and lakes. Beautiful scenery, lively canal waterfronts, and distinctive New York flavor await around every bend.

Boat Tours
Stop on board a canal tour boat for an hourly cruise, dinner cruise or themed tour. You’ll find boat tours within an hour’s drive of Buffalo, Rochester, Saratoga. Most boat tours will give you the unique canal experience of going through a lock. Specialty cruises, sailing adventures, and trips at numerous marinas and public slips are offered on lake and river sections of the waterway.

Canal Cruising
Steer your way to fun on the canal for a day trip, weekend getaway, or full vacation. The Erie, Champlain, Oswego and Cayuga-Seneca canals connect the Hudson River with Lake Champlain, Lake Ontario, Cayuga Lake, Seneca Lake and Lake Erie. You’ll find amenities and overnight accommodations at numerous marinas and public docks, many within walking distance of shops, restaurants, and other attractions.

Vacation Rentals
Vacation rentals provide an idyllic way to experience the canal at a relaxed pace. You’ll get lessons in steering, docking, and lock operation before heading out, so you can feel confident on the water even if you’re new to boating. Rental boats are well-equipped with sleeping quarters, a galley, and deck space for relaxing, many come with bikes so you can enjoy the Canalway Trail too.

Paddling
Choose great day trips and multiday adventures along the NYS Canalway Water Trail. Well-marked with blue and gold signs and maintained by volunteer stewards, the 450-mile water trail includes more than 150 public access points that make it easy to launch a kayak, canoe, or stand-up paddleboard. You’ll find rental outfitters at numerous locations.

Hit the Trail
Explore New York State’s extraordinary experiences, people, and places along the 750-mile Empire State Trail. The trail includes the east-west Erie Canalway Trail from Albany to Buffalo and north-south trails from New York City through the Hudson River Valley to Lake Champlain. Whether you like to cycle, hike, run, or roll, the trail welcomes people of all abilities, from all walks of life, and all backgrounds.

Canal Boating Basics
- The NYS Canal System is open from mid-May to mid-October.
- Boating is free and no permit is needed to go through a lock.
- Lock tenders are on hand to assist you and make your experience going through locks easy and enjoyable.
- It typically takes 15 to 20 minutes to go through a lock.
- Power boats and paddlers share the canal, be mindful of speed limits and wakes.
- There are more than 80 public boat ramps where you can launch a boat.
- Locks are open from 7am to 7pm, but many locks and lift bridges are open on demand until 10pm.

Say Hello to a Looper
Take a short stroll at most canal harbors and you’ll see boats from around the U.S. and Canada. Some use the canals to transit to and from home ports, while others are completing epic journeys. The NYS Canal System is part of a 4,600-mile boating route known as the Great Loop. Boaters traverse 15 states, 140 locks, and typically take a year to complete it. Shorter loop options are also available. Take up a conversation with “loopers,” as they are affectionately named. Find out more about the journey at greatloop.org

Adaptive Recreation
There are numerous places along the canals and Canalway Trail that are accessible and internal that offer adaptive bikes and kayaks. Learn more at: www.eriecanalway.org/1st-Mile

Amenities & Resources
Parking areas, restrooms, and canal amenity centers are located all along the waterway. Camping is permitted at designated Hiker-Cyclist-Boater sites and at many locks with permission of the lock operator. Comprehensive information:
- www.eriecanalway.org
- www.nyscanalmap.com
- www.empiretrail.ny.gov
- www.canaltrailsny.org

Canalway Trail too.
Find boating resources and Notices to Mariners at www.canal.ny.gov. Additional information on boating, paddling, rentals, and tours is available at www.eriecanalway.org.

Electing
Find boating resources and Notices to Mariners at www.canal.ny.gov. Additional information on boating, paddling, rentals, and tours is available at www.eriecanalway.org.

Adaptive
Find boating resources and Notices to Mariners at www.canal.ny.gov. Additional information on boating, paddling, rentals, and tours is available at www.eriecanalway.org.

Adaptive
Find boating resources and Notices to Mariners at www.canal.ny.gov. Additional information on boating, paddling, rentals, and tours is available at www.eriecanalway.org.
Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor

The New York State Canal System’s exceptional scenery, history, culture, and natural resources earned the 524-mile waterway and the communities along its shores Congressional designation as the Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor in 2000. The designation recognizes the significance of New York’s canals to the state and nation.

Since its grand opening in 1825, the canals have been enlarged three times to accommodate larger boats and more traffic. Changes were made to the route and to canal structures like locks and bridges each time. Explore the many cities, towns, and villages along the waterway to touch history and experience for yourself the canals that transformed America.

Locks are elevators for boats, lifting and lowering them as they travel along the waterway. Get an exceptional side-by-side comparison of locks used in the 1800s and locks used today in Lockport.

Lift Bridges
Built between 1805 and 1918, 15 lift bridges still carry traffic over the Erie Canal in western New York. When boats need to pass, a bridge operator stops traffic on the roadway and raises the deck of the bridge 15 feet to give clearance.

Heritage Sites and Visitor Centers
Visit local museums to learn about people, places, and innovations along the canals. Find information about attractions and amenities at canalfront visitor centers.

1800s Erie Canal
Find a restored stretch of the 1800s Erie Canal running through Central New York. See stone locks, aqueducts, and other structures formerly used to operate the canal at museums and parks from Montezuma to Amsterdam.

Movable Dams
Eight movable dams between Schenectady and Fort Plain regulate water flow on the Mohawk River. Dam gates are lowered to form navigable pools during the summer but are pulled up in winter to clear the way for ice and debris-filled floodwaters.

Canal Communities
Waterfront festivals, concerts, and events are the hallmark of summer along the canals. Be sure to sample local fare—microbreweries, wineries, farmers markets, and ethnic restaurants will give you a great taste of the region.

Navigate to nycanalmap.com to discover sites of interest and plan your trip.

Erie Canalway Map & Guide

Celebrating the Champlain Canal’s 200th Anniversary

Two years prior to the auspicious opening of the Erie Canal, the Champlain Canal was fully operational from Troy to Lake Champlain in 1823. In its first year, one hundred boats made the 63-mile journey.

!Map of the Champlain Canal

As New York City grew to become the nation’s largest port, the Champlain Canal linked the Hudson River with Lake Champlain. From Canada, as New York City grew to become the nation’s largest port, profits from trade also diverted south from Vermont, and Canada flowed south. Profits from trade also diverted south from Canada, as New York City grew to become the nation’s largest port.

!Map of the Champlain Canal

- Fort Edward—The Fort Edward House Museum complex shows the history of Fort Edward and the Champlain Canal. Exhibits at nearby Rogers Island Visitors Center tell stories of the area from the earliest Native Americans through the Revolutionary War. Fort Edward has several boat launches and is a good place to begin a paddling trip.

- Stillwater—Walk, cycle, or ski the 10-mile tour route to explore Saratoga National Historical Park, where the most decisive battles of the American Revolution were fought in 1777. Nearby, visit other parts of the park at Victory Woods, Saratoga Monument, and the country home of Revolutionary War General Philip Schuyler.

- Waterford—Located near the confluence of the Erie and Champlain Canals, Waterford is a hub for canal commerce and recreation. Stop by the Waterford Harbor Visitor Center to get oriented, rent a kayak, or get a closer view. The canal promenade, rent a kayak, connect to the Canalway Trail, or enjoy the Sunday morning Waterford Harbor Farmers Market.

- Schenectady—Take your family to see the John F. Kennedy Museum and the nearby Mohawk Hudson Cruise, which boards near Lock C5.

- Whitehall—Boat trips from Lake Champlain can be up to Lock C12 to visit Skaneateles Borough Museum. Located in a 1917 canal terminal building, the museum displays artifacts related to Whitehall’s history as a center for transportation and defense.

- Gloss Falls—Visit the masterpieces at Hyde Collection, cycle on the 3-mile trail along the Gloss Falls Footbridge, and top off your trip with a visit to a brewery or restaurant in the heart of town.

Follow in history's wake to these sites along the Champlain Canal.

- Schenectady—Take your family to see the John F. Kennedy Museum and the nearby Mohawk Hudson Cruise, which boards near Lock C5.

- Whitehall—Boat trips from Lake Champlain can be up to Lock C12 to visit Skaneateles Borough Museum. Located in a 1917 canal terminal building, the museum displays artifacts related to Whitehall’s history as a center for transportation and defense.

- Gloss Falls—Visit the masterpieces at Hyde Collection, cycle on the 3-mile trail along the Gloss Falls Footbridge, and top off your trip with a visit to a brewery or restaurant in the heart of town.

Bicentennial Events

- Champlain Canal Stories: 200 Years from Waterford to Whitesboro—2002, Croudal Public Library, Gloss Falls
- Champlain Canalway Trail Family Bicycle Celebration—2002, Fort Edward to Fort Ann
- Champlain Canal History Tour & Paddle—2004, Whitesboro to Comstock and back
- Paddle the Canals: Champlain 200—2007, Fort Edward to Schuylerville
- 17th Annual Cardboard Boat Races—2008, Fort Plain, Schenectady
- Champlain Canal Bicentennial Concert—2009, Albany, Schuyler
- Magical History Tour—2010, Fort Royal Park, Schenectady
- Champlain Canal Bicentennial Concert with the Albany Symphony—2010, Albany
- Locktoberfest—Fort Edward, 2014, Fort Tracy Park, Fort Edward
- Champlain Canalway Map & Guide

Take the Kids!

S

ome special time with family or friends is a favorite pastime of any child. There are lots of ways to share a fine afternoon or an entire vacation on the canals. Here are our top five things to do with kids:

1. Take a Boat Trip. Kids especially love the experience of going through locks or under lift bridges. If you’d prefer to stay on land, visit one of the canal system’s 57 locks to watch boats go by.

2. Cycle on the Erie Canalway Trail. The off-road trail is a great, safe place to ride. From building two-wheelers to teams ready for a multiday trip, the trail offers options to suit every skill level.

3. Go Fishing! Cast your line in the canal itself, or in streams and lakes throughout the Corridor. Common catches include walleye, northern pike, small and large mouth bass, and perch. In the fall, the NYSC Canal Corporation releases water from the Erie Canal into Lake Ontario tributaries in Western New York to create outstanding angling conditions.

4. Cultivate a Sense of Wonder. Enjoy swimming, hiking, and nature study at state parks, nature preserves, and National Natural Landmarks. You’ll find dramatic waterfalls, beautiful lakes, extensive trails, and vast wetlands full of bird life. Some great picks include the Adirondack National Natural Landmark, Little Falls, Green Lakes State Park, Fayetteville, Buttermilk Falls State Park and Robert H. Treman State Park in Ithaca, and the Montezuma Audubon Center in Savannah.

5. Plan a Visit to the Museum. Most canal-related history museums offer special programs, hands-on displays, and family-friendly events. Check museum websites for events and kid-friendly activities.

Kids on the Canal in the 1800s

The demanding job of the mule driver was often held by boys (and occasionally girls) as young as eight-years old. Some mule drivers worked alongside their families, pitching in as expected to run a family-run canal boat. Others were orphaned immigrants. Children whose parents did not survive the transatlantic journey were sometimes sent north from New York City to work on canal boats. Low wages and rough conditions marked the life of the mule driver.

The demanding job of the mule driver was often held by boys (and occasionally girls) as young as eight-years old. Some mule drivers worked alongside their families, pitching in as expected to run a family-run canal boat. Others were orphaned immigrants. Children whose parents did not survive the transatlantic journey were sometimes sent north from New York City to work on canal boats. Low wages and rough conditions marked the life of the mule driver.

- Go Fish! Cast your line in the canal itself, or in streams and lakes throughout the Corridor. Common catches include walleye, northern pike, small and large mouth bass, and perch. In the fall, the NYSC Canal Corporation releases water from the Erie Canal into Lake Ontario tributaries in Western New York to create outstanding angling conditions.

- Cultivate a Sense of Wonder. Enjoy swimming, hiking, and nature study at state parks, nature preserves, and National Natural Landmarks. You’ll find dramatic waterfalls, beautiful lakes, extensive trails, and vast wetlands full of bird life. Some great picks include the Adirondack National Natural Landmark, Little Falls, Green Lakes State Park, Fayetteville, Buttermilk Falls State Park and Robert H. Treman State Park in Ithaca, and the Montezuma Audubon Center in Savannah.

- Plan a Visit to the Museum. Most canal-related history museums offer special programs, hands-on displays, and family-friendly events. Check museum websites for events and kid-friendly activities.

- Kids on the Canal in the 1800s

The demanding job of the mule driver was often held by boys (and occasionally girls) as young as eight-years old. Some mule drivers worked alongside their families, pitching in as expected to run a family-run canal boat. Others were orphaned immigrants. Children whose parents did not survive the transatlantic journey were sometimes sent north from New York City to work on canal boats. Low wages and rough conditions marked the life of the mule driver.

- Go Fish! Cast your line in the canal itself, or in streams and lakes throughout the Corridor. Common catches include walleye, northern pike, small and large mouth bass, and perch. In the fall, the NYSC Canal Corporation releases water from the Erie Canal into Lake Ontario tributaries in Western New York to create outstanding angling conditions.

- Cultivate a Sense of Wonder. Enjoy swimming, hiking, and nature study at state parks, nature preserves, and National Natural Landmarks. You’ll find dramatic waterfalls, beautiful lakes, extensive trails, and vast wetlands full of bird life. Some great picks include the Adirondack National Natural Landmark, Little Falls, Green Lakes State Park, Fayetteville, Buttermilk Falls State Park and Robert H. Treman State Park in Ithaca, and the Montezuma Audubon Center in Savannah.

- Plan a Visit to the Museum. Most canal-related history museums offer special programs, hands-on displays, and family-friendly events. Check museum websites for events and kid-friendly activities.

- Kids on the Canal in the 1800s

The demanding job of the mule driver was often held by boys (and occasionally girls) as young as eight-years old. Some mule drivers worked alongside their families, pitching in as expected to run a family-run canal boat. Others were orphaned immigrants. Children whose parents did not survive the transatlantic journey were sometimes sent north from New York City to work on canal boats. Low wages and rough conditions marked the life of the mule driver.
Enter the Erie Canalway Photo Contest

Submit up to three photos of your favorite places, views, and people enjoying the canals for a chance to win a spot in the 2024 Erie Canalway calendar. Find an entry form and tips on our website:

eriecanalway.org/get-involved/photo-contest

Deadline: August 25, 2023

NOTE: Images must be horizontal format.